Re: Product and Service received from Exide Industries India

Dear Wayne

I would like to take express our appreciation for the support we have received from you and your colleagues at Exide.

As you aware we have built an excellent relationship with Exide over the past five years based on your excellent product and high levels of customer service. We have been able to sell the Exide product to a number of OEM customers and as always the product has performed to an exception standard.

In addition to the quality of the product which we receive we are encouraged by the Exide's commitment to continually improving the product through investment in new and industry leading technology.

The commercial relationship has been conducted with great integrity and is a credit to the company's ethos.

We look forward to continuing and expanding our long term relationship.

Yours sincerely
