Indian states on average have 25 days of public holidays in a year

A Business Standard analysis found that the number of public holidays varies from 14 in Delhi to 34 in Odisha. The average number of public holidays for all states combined is 24.6 per year.

Why states are high on liquor trade

The controversy in Delhi reflects the enduring importance of this revenue source for state exchequers.

Liquor is quicker

It takes 8 to 10 minutes to achieve the approval for a new license. From Covid-19 state governments such as Haryana and Madhya Pradesh have streamlined the way liquor were sold online and within 15 minutes of the application, the sales process is completed. In Haryana, sales go online via the Haryana State Liquor Corporation Limited's (HSLCL) online portal which is a completely digitized payment system. This led to a significant reduction in the number of liquor dealers across the state as there is no need to physically go through a middleman to get liquor.

The state government's move helped to reduce the number of liquor dealers from 50,000 to 500 in 2020. This also helped to reduce the number of corruption cases in the state, as there were fewer opportunities for officials to take bribes.

Other states are also taking similar steps to reduce the number of liquor dealers and increase online sales. In Maharashtra, the state government has implemented a similar system, which has also helped to reduce the number of corruption cases.

The online liquor sales system has also helped to increase revenue collection in states. In Haryana, for example, online liquor sales have generated over Rs 300 crore in revenue in just six months. This is expected to generate at least Rs 15 per cent of the state's total receipts.

In conclusion, the move towards online liquor sales has helped to reduce the number of corruption cases and increase revenue collection in states. The online liquor sales system is expected to generate significant revenue for states in the coming years.
